

The influence of Profitability and Liquidity ratio on the growth of profit of companies listed on the Stock Exchange

peyman enayatkhah masouleh*,badri abbasi,

Abstract Now the competition achieve profitable businesses, to limit the likelihood of imbalance obligations and stop their activities has increased. On the other hand, investors in the capital market are trying to push their own resources to lead the side that is most profitable for them. Among these are a means of assessing the financial strength of companies use financial ratios is derived the financial statements and a variety of value-based component. The purpose of this study was to investigate the impact of Profitability and cash flow growth in the profitability of companies listed on the Tehtan Stock Exchange. The variables examined in this thesis are current ratio, quick ratio, cash ratio, gross profit margin, return on asset and return on equity as the independent variables and profit growth as the dependent variable The purpose of this research is descriptive and functional. The statistical society includes the companies listed in Tehran Stock Exchange. The period of investigation, 1387 to 1392 the total number of 90 companies were ed as examples. To test the hypotheses of the tests combined data analysis based on a combination of solidarity conducted by Software SPSS and Eviews 7. The findings suggest that the current ratio and return on equity, on earnings growth of listed companies in Tehran Stock Exchange is effective, and quick ratio, cash ratio, and gross profit margin and, return on assets on profitable growth companies has no effect.

Keywords : Keywords: Current Ratio, Quick Ratio, Cash Ratio, Return on Assets, Growth of Profit

Islamic Azad University, Rasht Branch - Thesis Database
دانشگاه آزاد اسلامی واحد رشت - سامانه بانک اطلاعات پایان نامه ها