
Analysis of factors affecting the political organization of Ardabil Province

Hasan Adamiyat*,

Administrative-political hierarchy of administrative divisions of the country into smaller units, for ease of administration and security and improve the social, economic and political This division plant based on history, culture, geography and population conditions and sometimes by political considerations (especially contemporary) takes place The divisions on the administrative structure - land management, accelerate the process of national development and harmonious development has a considerable impactBy the time divisions have a good return on any plan on a national, regional and local Nachyzv probably "be confusedThe political system and its form, administrative, geographical space, emotional and political links between people and places, a network of social relations and population and its geographical distribution, the indicators are influential in the process of administrative divisions Political management of institutional contexts for participation and provides continuous public and individual freedom at the same time in all economic, political and cultural activities are available. This research using descriptive and analytical methods using questionnaires, studies and field observations to analyze the factors affecting the political organization of space Ardbylprdakhth In this study, according to the Morgan 384 experts evaluated governors randomly assigned to the following By analyzing the factors affecting the trend of Ardebil divisions can be distinguished into three regions; With the explanation that two of the great area, and residents need access to administrative personnel centers all changes Within the province is involved. Influencing factors in terms of Ardabil province in organizing the political space Bsyarzyadvzyad have expressed.

Keywords : Key words:Factors affecting , organization, political atmosphere, Ardebil

Islamic Azad University, Rasht Branch - Thesis Database
