shima najafi*,

The process of human's growth has an essential effect on their personality during childhood. Thus, the environment related to children's activities should be appropriate and optimal in order to help their physical, mental, emotional, and social growth. In this regard, the present project aims to design Institute for the Intellectual Development of Children and Young Adults in Rasht. Eliminating the lack of optimal space for intellectual development of children and young adults, the lack of recreational areas and specific locations of this group are among the design goals of the project. In every development, first, the space and background should be supplied. Therefore, we seek to implement a space which is in compliance with the thoughts and ideas of this age group and users of this location should have the necessary and desirable comfort, then, we will take steps to make them progress ahead. The intended complex includes: education department (including atelier, workshop, class), Cultural department (including library, council, audiovisual hall, multifunctional hall, amphitheater), Administrative department, Service department, Restaurant, exhibition, recreational areas (including water, ball, and sand pool, cycling track, indoor and outdoor playground and sport fields, shape garden).
