

Compare the comprehensive well-being (subjective well-being, psychological well-being, social well-being) in patients with MS and healthy individuals

Najmeh Jamali*, Dr. Banoudokht Najafianpour,

Abstract The purpose of this study is to Compare the comprehensive well-being (subjective well-being, psychological well-being, social well-being) between MS and healthy patients . The research methods is scientific comparative. The statistical population of the present study were all the female MS patients who referred to neurologic privates, MS communities and also normal people Tehran. 120 MS patients were ed all these people by in available sampling method and also we ed 120 normal people by purposive sampling, too. All the subjects were answered to Contril well-being, Riff psychological well-being and also Keyes social well-being questionnaires . The multi variables variances of data were analyzed through SPSS . The findings showed that there is a difference between total well-being (subjective well-being, psychological well-being and social well-being) in MS patients and normal people. (0.01

Keywords : Keywords: MS, subjective well-being, psychological well-being and social well-being

Islamic Azad University, Rasht Branch - Thesis Database
دانشگاه آزاد اسلامی، واحد رشت - سامانه بانک اطلاعات پایان نامه ها