

---

Trade liberalization and its economic impact on developing and least developed countries

Mehrnoosh Zad zidesarayee*,Reza Zarei,

the increasing integration of economies in the world is One of the most remarkable phenomena in the global economy's recent decades. expanding exports could compete through tradable goods lead to increase domestic production efficiency. The aim of the present study is to examine the impact globalization on economic growth in less - developed countries. The statistical society of the study are less developed countries including Iraq, Iran, Turkey, Pakistan, Indonesia, Turkmenistan, Egypt and Nigeria since the beginning of the year 88 until the end of the year 93. The method Data panel and 'eviwes' software has been used to examine the research hypotheses. the results indicate the non - petroleum exports variables, manpower and free trade on economic growth in less - developed countries has significant and positive impact

Keywords : non - petroleum exports, Manpower, free trade, Economic growth, Least Developed Countries

Islamic Azad University, Rasht Branch - Thesis Database
دانشگاه آزاد اسلامی، واحد رشت - سامانه بانک اطلاعات پایان نامه ها