

The design of the neighborhood's neighborhood in Rasht's Sagharizan neighborhood with an emphasis on promoting social interactions among residents

Roxana Shabani*, Dr. Mostafa Pouri,

Abstract Today, cities suffer anonymity, which sometimes seek to offset it with approaches such as the creation of special neighborhoods or the construction of monuments and the deployment of specific sculptures in the city. But these efforts alone can not come to an end, because in order to be able to achieve a minimum level of efficiency, they must be accompanied by spatial planning at the police headquarters, such as housing, commercial and office construction, which today does not exist. The title of one of the most important urban identification factors in the past of Iran provided a favorable environment for citizens, however, the process of studying the historical course of urban neighborhoods is experiencing a declining process, as the performance of these centers gradually weakened. Has been. . Manans living in neighborhoods of today's metropolises are unaware of the atmosphere of their neighborhood, and in his mental image he is part of the city. The neighborhood has lost its traditional features and always provokes a feeling of indolence and wandering on the human being in it. The main effort in this research is the exact identification of the identity of the locals in modern metropolises. It is hoped that this research Helping us to achieve this important goal. In this research, the study area was investigated and analyzed with the approach of increasing social interactions among residents of the neighborhood (Sagharizazan neighborhood of Rasht), which itself has an old texture and the main districts of Rasht in the past. Finally, the center of the neighborhood and neighborhood It was designed. Key words: Neighborhood, Neighborhood, social interactions, Rasht activists
