

Role of Local Management in Land Use Changes in Rural Areas of Nasir mahaleh, Ahmad Sar Gorab Shaft

Maryam Jannati*,

In today's modern life, the demand for land and its transformation has changed with regard to the various levels of economic and social activities of individuals that have led to the formation of needs, demands and expectations of their peripheral space. In the meantime, rural settlements have a coherent background in terms of livelihood and identity with the land, how to exploit and change the use of this rare source in order to create their own habitat spaces. Due to the changes in the type of livelihood, the structural nature of the villages and the levels - the intellectual and behavior of the villagers, the use of land within the villages requires comprehensive management and adoption of strategic policies for the establishment of a system of land inland villages This research is a descriptive-analytical one in terms of its purpose and its nature, which investigates the proper use of rural land and factors affecting the management of rural land use in rural settlements of Nasir Mahalle of Shaft. The method of gathering information is used locally and in a library. This research is a descriptive-analytical one in terms of its purpose and its nature, which investigates the proper use of rural land and factors affecting the management of rural land use in rural settlements of Nasir Mahalleh of Shaft.

Keywords : management, land use change, village, tourism, Nasir Mahalleh

Islamic Azad University, Rasht Branch - Thesis Database
دانشگاه آزاد اسلامی، واحد رشت - سامانه بانک اطلاعات پایان نامه ها