Abstract The family is a small community that forms the foundation of the community through marriage through it. The infrastructure of education comes within the family, and in such an environment a significant part of human personality forms for the formation of a larger community. In this thesis, a section on this important issue, one of which is the proper education of the family and marital law and regulations, is addressed to this end (for the purpose of awareness) a questionnaire that can inform the audience in the future. Qualitative and quantitative data was obtained in the statistical society of the Islamic Azad University in Rasht. The results of this study showed that "in all dimensions of marriage and family, we encountered a low amount of quality in the consciousness of the audience and the questioner." There was not a significant part of the legal, jurisprudential and non-juridical requirements in the set of contact information. Accordingly, The definition of a system of continuing education in the target groups familiar with the concept of family, marriage and the relevant legislation has been necessary. Keyword : The level of awareness of young couples, the amount of student information to marriage regulations, marital couples' perceptions and marriage
