

Cerebral Palsy of Identification and prioritize the needs of parents of Child

Motehra MohammadNia*, Abbasali Hossein Khanzadeh,

One of the challenges ahead of specialists is to provide appropriate educational and rehabilitation services to parents of children with cerebral palsy, identifying their most important needs. The aim of this study was to identify and prioritize the needs of parents with a child with cerebral palsy. The method of this research is descriptive survey (survey). The statistical population of this study included all parents with children with cerebral palsy in Guilan province in 1396-1397. The sample Studied case consisted of 200 people who were ed through targeted sampling. The required data for this study and the needs of parents with children with cerebral palsy were prepared using a researcher-made questionnaire. Data were analyzed using exploratory and confirmatory factor analysis and Friedman test. The findings of this study showed that questionnaire the needs of parents with children cerebral palsy Respectively Importance dimensions, awareness of children's social needs, awareness of need and medical facilities of the child, need for knowledge and knowledge. Also, the needs of parents with a child with cerebral palsy include worries about the job and marriage of a child with an average score of (32.46), the most important factor and then the concern about the attitude of the community with the child with a mean score (31.09) and The support and endeavors of family members to improve the situation of the child with (29.46), The ranked second and third an average rating are located. The findings of the study provide the opportunity for parents and government officials to have a proper and realistic understanding of the needs of children with cerebral palsy and their parents at different stages of care, disease, treatment, rehabilitation and empowerment, have, also to develop appropriate strategies for provide supportive necessary and timely assistance in the process of improving and maintaining the normal life of a child with cerebral palsy is iaffect Lays. Based on this, it can be concluded that identifying the physical, psychological and emotional needs of children with cerebral palsy by parents, the warm and sincere relationship between mother and child, and the way of caring, Caused improve personal and social interactions, reduce uncomplicated behaviors and empower children. Cerebral palsy Gets.

Keywords : Cerebral Palsy, Needs Assessment, Parents of Children with Cerebral Palsy

Islamic Azad University, Rasht Branch - Thesis Database
دانشگاه آزاد اسلامی، واحد رشت - سامانه بانک اطلاعات پایان نامه ها