Components, functions and performance of the collection and sale of property owned

abas rajabpour*,

Reviewing the performance of the organization the collection and sale of property is one of the important discussions that so far no thesis has been written with this title. The main purpose of the organization of collecting and selling property is to focus on all matters relating to the collection, maintenance, the management and sale of property that is acquired under the law by the law, seized, seized or managed by the government. In fact, with the formation of the organization, two parallel administrative units (Aboriginal warehouse and Executive Office of Note 28 of the Budget Law) were merged and its duties in the new organization were concentrated, and, on the other hand, the same affairs, performed by the agencies and the executive agencies or the judiciary, Moved. The thesis addresses the terms of sales and auctions by the organization, and in the second chapter we mentioned that the auctions were one of the main ways of the organization, but there are obstacles on the way to the organization in the auction of property.

Keywords : organization, organization collection and sale of property, auctions
