

Lagoon,with the approach of naturism International Exhibit of Einak

fatemeh safajou*,rabe rahimi,

Abstractt Exhibitions have always been and will continue to be used at national and international level to showcase the works of a civilization. Exhibitions also showcase positive interactions between individuals as well as the works and achievements of a region. In many areas, they are also contributing to the region's budget and economy. The use of components that will attract more users is one of the most controversial topics in this series, which will use green architecture to increase this efficiency. Humans have always been positive and can have a positive impact on nature The project is an effective approach to this design. In this project, using a questionnaire method, the positive components of green architecture associations are studied and the study and analysis of green architecture and impacts using study and brochure on articles and books. We have focused on the performance of a collection. Perhaps by using a well-designed design we can increase the presence of users in the collection.
