

Analysis of the Imam Khomeini Relief Committee's Role in the Construction and Repair of Lasht Nash Urban Housing

Hossein Aghaeizadeh Vishkaei*,

The Imam Khomeini Relief Committee is in line with the country's current policies along with the various services of subsistence, culture, education, employment, and so on. It provides clients with housing and urban development offices and the Housing Foundation, which is the main custodian of housing construction. In the city of Varosta, they represent clients who lose their real rights due to lack of recognition of their rights (citizenship, etc.) and lack of ability to defend their real rights, and have qualified and specialized personnel in various sectors (including Housing, legal, employment, cultural, education, research, etc. provide the opportunity to enjoy the tricks of this class. In this case we are dealing with the urban housing sector and especially transplantation. The research method in this thesis is descriptive-analytical, relying on information, documents, libraries, universities (papers and theses) and field method (observation). The purpose of this study is to analyze the role of Imam Khomeini Relief Committee. Along with other offices and with the help of other departments as well as suggestions and solutions to facilitate the construction and maintenance of urban housing focused on the city of Nottingham. The results of the analysis indicate that due to the lack of knowledge of the clients about the current laws and also because of the existing financial and cultural poverty, this institution can return these families and their children to the natural path of the society in addition to filling the existing vacuum.
